Issue 3
Page 1

1. Marty finds himself sulking during school lunchtime.
2. Stacy and David feel bad for Marty after hearing about Bill's store burning down.
3. David is hesitant at first, he points out that the stories made donations to David Dukes.
4. Stacy still brings up it can never be easy to lose a family member.
5. David comes over to him. Stacy speaks condolences about Bill. David contributes by saying he didn't agree with Bill on a lot of things but he knows it can't be easy having a relative killed.
6. Marty talks back, saying his uncle was a great man and it was David's kind who killed him.

Page 2

1. David's exclaims he's biracial, and even if he was full black, it's not his fault.
2. Stacy realizes reaching out was a bad and says they should just go.
3. David calls Marty a cracker freak right before walking away.
4. This triggers Marty and he yells Nigger and the whole cafeteria hears it.

Page 3

1. This quickly results in an expulsion for him. The principle cites the current political climate for creating a zero tolerance for racial slurs.
2. At the new apartment, Marty tells his aunt that Dave called him cracker first so it was okay. And she agrees the expulsion was unnecessary.
3. She wishes there was a way to get rid of all the anti white Rhetoric in the world.
4. She then changes the subject and asks Marty to look up how to sell some firearms. Bills old handgun and AR 15 were some of the only things to survive the fire because they were in a gun safe at the time.
